Wellman would foreclose Quad-City joining the Belleville Area College

Dr. Fred L. Wellman, executive secretary of the Illinois Junior College Board, today shifted his stand regarding the Quad-City area and said he will push for state action Friday to add this community to the Lewis and Clark Junior college district.

Only last week, Dr. Wellman said he would permit four options.

Other than two groupings involving the financially-prosperous college in East St. Louis, Wellman said then that Quad-City options included joining Lewis and Clark or Belleville Area College.

The JCB will meet Friday at Freeport, Ill.

While the first choice of many Quad-Cityans would be to form a new junior college, called Southwestern, the next choice might be Belleville rather than Lewis and Clark, a local study college spokesman said.

Lewis and Clark, whose campus is at Godfrey on the far side of Alton, has encountered a stormy period and is preparing to replace its president, possibly with County School Supt. Wilbur Trimpe.

Dr. Wellman now says, "Our first priority would be to recommend that the Tri-City area annex to Lewis and Clark Community College."

He stressed that the main campus would be Godfrey although some high school vocational facilities here and the part of SIUC might be utilized.

His formal report, prepared earlier for presentation Friday, did not indicate that he would foreclose the Belleville option.

Text of that report follows: Petitions for a referendum to establish Southwestern Junior College District to be comprised of territory which is essentially the Granite City, Madison and Venice school districts, all in Madison County.

Staff recommendation: We recommend that the Illinois Junior College Board deny the prayer of the above-entitled petition based on the general finding that it is not possible for the proposed district to produce a desirable program of junior college education at a reasonable cost.

We further recommend that the Illinois Junior College Board specifically adopt the following points as its reasons for this decision and authorize the executive secretary to incorporate them into a brief statement in accordance with Section 105-2 of the Public Junior College Act:

1. The estimated population of the proposed new district is 61,255 (according to the 1970 federal census).

While it exceeds the statutory minimum of 60,000 which was in force on the date the petition was filed, it is far below the minimum standard of 100,000 set by the State Board on July 21, 1972.

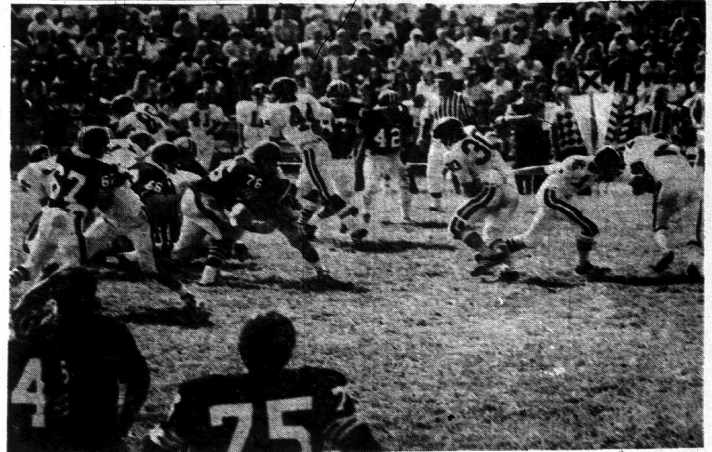

2. The 1972 tax base for the three underlying common school districts is $277,741,873. While this figure exceeds the statutory minimum of $150 million which was in effect on the date the petition was filed, it is far below the minimum standard of $400 million set by the State Board on July 21, 1972.

3. The petitioners estimate a new community college in the area described in the petition would attract 800 full-time enrollment students during the first year of operation. We believe that this figure is overly optimistic.

Moreover, on July 21, 1972, the State Board set 1,000 FTE students as the minimum potential enrollment for new community college districts. Given the present background of enrollment trends in higher education in this state, we do not believe a new community college in the area described in the petition could achieve this potential within a reasonable forecasting period.

We further recommend that the Illinois Junior College Board authorize its executive secretary to cause a copy of the statement to be published in one or more newspapers having a

Retire wharf debt

The final installment has been paid one year early on the $1.5 million revenue bond issued to finance establishment of the Granite City Wharf and Public Terminal.

The river dock, an enterprise of the Bi-State Development Agency, is located at the south end of the Chain of Rocks Canal. The canal is the main passageway for traffic on the Mississippi River just north of St. Louis.

Part of the facility is under long-term lease to Granite City Steel Co. The rest is operated as a public terminal by Bi-State by the St. Louis Terminals Corp.

Proceeds from the 30-year, four-and-3/4 per cent revenue bond issue were used to construct a dock and warehouse completed in 1966.

The initial demand for the terminal and the financial guarantee for the bond were provided by Granite City Steel. The bond initially was purchased by The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. and has since been sold to the First Granite City National Bank.

The wharf and terminal have been expanded and modernized several times since 1966. Accessible by rail and many highways, the facility now has 1,650 feet of usable dock length.

The public terminal has a large dry bulk commodity unloader, 31,200 feet of warehouse space and a 65-ton crawler crane.

Major commodities handled at the complex include steel, newsprint, copper ingots, iron ore and coke.

The total tonnage of materials shipped and received has increased steadily in recent years, climbing to 324,188 tons in the 12-month period ended June 30, 1972.

Edward J. Delmore Jr., chairman of the Bi-State Board of Commissioners, explained today that the early bond retirement was possible "wholly by virtue of the success of the wharf."

Delmore, of Caseyville, Ill., emphasized that the facility has and will continue to operate at no cost to Missouri and Illinois taxpayers, adding:

"This occasion not only underscores that success, but is an encouraging indicator of the development potential of the metropolitan area as a port."

General Leif J. Sverdrup, chairman of the Bi-State board when the Granite City terminal was established, said: "Since the first cargo — slabs from Granite City Steel — left the wharf bound for Holland in December 1964, it has become a significant asset to the entire bi-state commercial and industrial community."

"Its increasing use corresponds with a general return to the water as a source of reliable, economic transportation."

Granite City Steel Board Chairman Nicholas P. Veeder said about 20 per cent of his company's products are shipped from the Granite City Dock.

"The river dock is vital to our ability to sustain our current, record-high production pace," Veeder said, noting that the dock has

Robbery in Madison

Two robbers, one of them armed, took an undetermined amount of cash from a safe and a cash register at the Hieken Clothing Store, 408 Madison Ave., Madison, after tying four persons and ordering a fifth into a rest room Thursday afternoon.

The two men entered the store at 1:05 p.m., and one of them held a gun on an 18-year-old

Madison girl who is a clerk in the store, Harvey Hieken, operator of the shop, was in a back room at the time, according to reports given Madison police.

Hieken said he heard the men in front of the store and as he approached them and the girl, the robber with the gun put the pistol to Hieken's head and told him to "be quiet."

The armed robber then ordered Hieken and the girl to get down on the floor, but as they did so, two customers came in. The bandits then ordered Hieken, the clerk and the two customers to the rear of the store where they were bound.

At this point, police reported, another customer entered the store and was ordered into a rest room.

The two men then cleaned out the cash register and a safe that was open. They saw a second safe that was locked and instructed Hieken to open it. The victims reported, Hieken told them there was no money in that safe and the two men left.

One of the robbers was described as tall, thin and in his 20s. The other was "shorter and older," according to the victims.

Two bids for construction of an interim drainage line were opened by the Illinois Department of Transportation Division of Water Resource Management, Friday, but there is some doubt whether Langhorn Bond, secretary of DOT will approve the awarding of a contract.

The low bidder was M. H. Wolfe & Co. of Granite City at $149,936, below the $150,000 appropriated by the state legislature for the project.

C. D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City was the other bidder at $135,488.

The state engineering estimate for the project was $84,000. A waterways department spokesman said after the bids were opened, "under normal procedure, the bids would be rejected."

He said most bids must be within 5 per cent of the state estimate or they are rejected.

An announcement on whether the contract will be awarded is expected next week from Bond.

The interim drainage line was planned by John Guillou, resigned chief engineer of the waterways division who left that office last week, under a program supported by former Governor Richard B. Ogilvie. The interim relief was suggested to serve the Dobrey Slough area pending development of a major drainage improvement that would have taken Dobrey Slough drainage southward through a line that would run through farmland south of Ponton Road and directly into Horseshoe Lake.

That project became stalled because three owners of farmland through which the line would have been extended

GC town, recreation building proposed

Plans to build a Granite City Township building which would include recreation facilities for senior citizens have been initiated in discussions between Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City Township supervisor and chairman of the County Board, and Mayor Paul Schuler, it was learned today. The township has set up an appropriation of $232,042 in federal revenue sharing funds to help finance the cost of such a building. The appropriation will be made a part of the regular township appropriation bill at a meeting on Oct. 15.

Hagnauer said no plans have yet been developed for the proposed structure and that a site has not been selected, although one adjacent to the downtown area is under consideration.

The project as he views it, Hagnauer said, would include administrative offices for the township as well as facilities for relief clients and senior

Camelot Auction tickets on sale $500 taken in holdup

Joseph Hassler and Maurice Dailey, presidents, respectively, of the Granite City Rotary and Noonday Optimist Clubs, have jointly announced a Camelot Auction Sale Oct. 20. Billed as the "social event of the year," the Rotary-Optimist auction will be held at the Sunset Hills Country Club, and will be the first major fund-raising event to be conducted by either club in recent years. Under joint sponsorship of the two local service clubs, future plans call for the Camelot Auction to become an annual social event. A Camelot sale comprises a wide variety of products and services which are contributed for auction to the highest bidder. Items are donated at or below wholesale cost, and range in value from $10 to several hundred dollars. The awards are for six to nine months of study, with maximum stipend of $1,250 per month. Applicants must have completed graduate work or other professional training by Oct. 15 to be eligible, and the recipients must devote full time to their fellowship study. According to Sally Page, resources analyst for SIUE graduate studies and research, the purpose of the fellowships is to give promising young scholars and teachers an opportunity to undertake studies to enable them to contribute significantly to knowledge in their fields through their teaching, writing, and leadership in their professions. Additional information and applications may be obtained from Miss Page at the SIUE Graduate School, Room 2205, General Office Building.

The proceeds from the auction, after all costs have been defrayed, will be equally divided between the two sponsoring clubs to fund worthy community projects during the year. Details of the event are being handled by a joint planning committee composed of members from each of the sponsor clubs. Co-chairmen of the Camelot committee are Don Adams, Rotary, and Jack Dempsey, Optimist. Rotary-Optimist co-chairmen of sub-committees are: sale item solicitations - Steve Bristol and Kent Dunn; tickets - Dick West and Ted Ellerman; publicity - William (Bill) Winter and William (Bill) Todd; financial institutions and professional - John Polson and Carl Ranft.

Fellowships are being offered for historical, social, and cultural studies of United States ethnic minorities, studies in the interrelationships between human values and science and technology, and research and studies by other "promising young humanists."

Illinoisans split on veto of emergency medical services

The Republican majority in the Illinois delegation in congress helped sustain president Nixon's veto of the Emergency Medical Services System Act of 1973 in the fifth Congressional attempt this year to override him. The President gained his closest victory last week in the five attempts by the Democratic-controlled House to override him this year. The House voted 273 to 144, with one voting present, to override his veto. But House Democrats needed 278, or two-thirds, of those present and voting to win on the issue. In the House voting, the President's veto was sustained by 138 Republicans and six Democrats. Voting to override him were 22 Democrats and 46 Republicans. The 24-member Illinois delegation is made up of 14 Republicans and 10 Democrats. They split 11 to 11, with two not voting. Rep. Thomas Ralback of Moline, the 19th District congressman, was the only Illinois Republican who voted to override. Two others, Rep. Robert P. Hanrahan of Homewood, 3rd Dist., and Rep. Arnold R. Collier of West Springfield, 6th Dist., were listed as not voting. All 10 Democrats voted to override the veto. The bill would authorize a new three-year $185 million program of federal aid in developing community-based emergency medical services, which sponsors say would save 60,000 lives a year. The President vetoed the Aug. 1, saying it would create a new categorical aid program in an area traditionally reserved for state and local jurisdictions. He also proposed limited demonstration efforts in various types of emergency medical services systems for use by communities. Mr. Nixon also opposed the bill because it would require continued operation of the eight Public Health Service hospitals, which he contends are out-moded and whose patients he says should be cared for in community hospitals under federal contract.

Disposable bottle law shelved

Springfield—The plan to do away with throw-away beverage containers in Illinois seems to have been capped and set on the shelf, at least for now.

Sometime ago the Pollution Control Board completed public hearings on the proposal, under which a five-cent deposit would be required on every bottle and can of alcoholic beverage or soft drink sold in the state, and all such containers would have to be returned when empty.

Since then, nothing. Larry Hardin, in the division of solid waste management for the Institute for Environmental Quality in Chicago says the federal Environmental Protection Agency is currently conducting an intensive study of a comparable plan which went into effect in Oregon last October.

While it appeared initially to be a success, he said, some authorities suggested waiting until the plan had been operating a year before evaluating it.

While Illinois is interested in the results of that federal study, success there will not automatically mean the PCB will dust off the Illinois proposal and adopt it, he said. Oregon is essentially a recreation-oriented state which uses a lot of containers but manufactures few, and that constitutes a major difference.

In Illinois, some 20,000 people are involved in either making or filling containers, working in businesses which pay sizeable amounts in taxes. The 20,000 employees also pay income and other taxes as a result of their employment, affecting the state's economic picture.

Oregon uses a stubby little "universal" kind of bottle, Hardin says, which may come home this week containing a soft drink, return next week filled with beer, and then come back again with another brand of soft drink.

Since it is not necessary to return a specific bottle to a specific plant, there is only a two-cent deposit on each bottle, and less confusion for the merchant. Only "universal" bottles, which can only be used for one product, have a five-cent deposit, he said.

In Illinois, every bottle tends to be distinctive for its contents and the work involved in collecting, sorting and returning them prompted a number of merchants, distributors and bottlers to seek a court injunction to halt even the public hearings on the proposal.

Eventually the court set the injunction aside and ruled that the time to seek court redress would be if and when the PCB actually adopted the plan.

One study done in connection with a task force investigation of impact of a plan maintained that a net increase in employment would actually result in the state, but the new jobs would not likely help the container workers who would lose out, Hardin said.

While no one denies that the litter associated with cans and bottles contributes to visual pollution and constitutes a costly removal problem, the removal cost is far less than the financial loss which would result from affecting 20,000 jobs, Hardin said, and added that professional speculation seems to be that the PCB will move very slowly, if at all, on adopting any plan with such sweeping consequences.

Police said an investigation disclosed a basement window at the residence had been broken to gain entry.

Arrested at the Good Neighbor Tavern, 916 Niedringhaus Ave., was William Charles Georgeon, 35, of Granite City, who was charged with burglary.

The suspect reportedly had lived at the Maple Street address prior to last Wednesday.

Walker signs Calvo bill

Gov. Dan Walker on Friday signed Rep. Horace Calvo's legislation to control pollution from septic tanks.

The bill signed by the Governor will allow the Illinois Department of Public Health to license and regulate contractors who install septic tanks. It also requires the department to set up minimum standards for private sewage disposal systems.

"I am happy the Governor has agreed that septic tank contractors need to be licensed," Calvo, D-Granite City, said Friday.

"Poorly installed sewage systems are responsible for needless pollution of our streams and drainage ditches and the property of unfortunate neighbors."

Calvo explained that the new law will give each county the option of licensing and regulating septic tank contractors within its boundaries. If a county decides to administer the law, its regulations will have to be at least as strong as those set up by the Department of Public Health.

Calvo explained that he introduced House Bill 462 in response to special problems with septic tanks in Madison County.

Paul T. Hawkins, environmental control officer for the county, joined Calvo in expressing pleasure over approval of the bill by the governor.

"In our efforts to control pollution in Madison County," Hawkins said, "we have come across many examples of pollution from private sewage disposal systems."

"If these septic tanks had been installed correctly in the first place, we would have no problem. Unfortunately, there has been no legal authority for regulating installation of private sewage systems. Rep. Calvo's bill will correct that deficiency."

Calvo said his bill will go into effect on Oct. 1.

St. Joseph's scene of Tinnon-Waller wedding

St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on Sept. 8 of Miss Virginia Waller, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Waller, 2207 Bryan Ave., and Weldon Tinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tinnon, 1200 Rhodes St.

The Rev. Henry Mack officiated at the 11 a.m. double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with bouquets of late summer blossoms. Mrs. Clara Judd presided at the organ, playing a selection of wedding songs.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her sister, Miss Doris Waller, maid of honor; Mrs. Don Nunneny, another sister of the bride, and Mrs. John Waller, the bride's sister-in-law.

Each attendant wore a white wide brimmed hat and held a bouquet of blue mums. For her wedding, the bride chose a gown made with a lace Empire bodice, featuring a high lace collar. The long sheer organza sleeves were capped at the shoulders with lace and matching lace formed the fitted cuffs.

The gathered skirt was created of softly flowing organza, and her headpiece of lace and satin ribbon held in place a shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of white summer flowers festooned with white satin streamers.

Tommy Eilers attended the groom as best man, Don Nunneny, a brother-in-law of the bride, John Waller, the bride's brother, Mark and Barry Nunneny, nephews of the bride, Nathan Tinnon, a brother of the groom, and Steven Waller, a cousin of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's brother and an evening reception was held at the VFW Hall in Granite City. Mrs. Carol Chambers attended the guest book.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tinnon attended Granite City High School. She is employed at International Retail Shoe Co., and her husband works at Sterling Steel Casting Co.

Giant City youth center to close

Illinois Department of Corrections Director Allyn R. Siekaff has announced that Giant City Youth Development Center, a facility operated by the agency's Juvenile Division at Giant City State Park near Makanda, will be closed Sept. 20.

The closing of the minimum-security center, which has served delinquent youths aged 16 and over since it opened in 1963, marks the second such facility to be phased out of operation since Siekaff was appointed corrections director.

last June. New Salem Youth Development Center near Petersburg, in Menard County, was closed Aug. 16.

The agency operates five other centers at Morris, Brownfield, Manteno, Savanna and Grafton.

Siekaff said the Giant City center is being closed because of a reduction in the juvenile division's population and because it is no longer economically feasible to operate six youth development facilities.

Raynor-Wiehardts nuptials at Sacred Heart Church

Miss Karen J. Wiehardt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Wiehardt, 2532 East 27th St., and Joe E. Raynor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Raynor, 4024 Old Alton Road, exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony Sept. 7 at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church.

White summer flowers in tall vases and lighted tapers provided the setting for the 7 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Daniel Flynn.

Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw, organist, played a selection of nuptial music prior to the service.

Mr. Wiehardt escorted his daughter down the white-carpeted aisle to the altar. She chose white organza over tulle gown designed with a fitted bodice featuring a high lace collar and bishop sleeves, appliqued with lace motifs. Chantilly lace appliques outlined with seed pearls accented the A-line skirt and formed a very wide border at the hemline.

She wore a full-length mantilla veil and carried a cascade of white carnations, stephanotis and baby breath.

The maid of honor Miss Patricia Wiehardt, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Susan Raynor, the groom's sister, bridesmaid, were gowned alike in wine crepe dresses.

Their frocks were created with a square yoke fashioned with a high collar trimmed with ivory lace. Matching lace edged the short puff sleeves and was repeated at the hemlines.

Each attendant held a colonial bouquet of pale pink pom poms and rose-colored carnations.

Attending the groom as his best man was Daniel Raynor, a cousin. Kevin J. Wiehardt, a brother of the bride was

Mistakes costly in MHS opener

The Madison High School Trojans, attempting to repeat last year's defeat of the Central (St. Louis) Red Wings, couldn't capitalize on Central's fumbles and penalties and lost 27-6 here Friday afternoon.

Opening their 1973 football season, the Trojans showed much promise. But along with inability to profit from the visitors' mistakes, MHS also had problems recovering from its own playing errors.

MHS received the opening kickoff on its 20-yard line. Willie Sheehy returning the ball 35 yards to the Central 36.

Madison Quarterback Daryl Jones handed the ball to Joe Young on the very next play for a 27-yard gain to the 9-yard line, and it appeared that the hosts were about to take the lead.

But two plays later, another handoff by Jones on the Central 40 turned into disaster when Young fumbled and the ball was picked up by Red Wing End Curtis McCleese.

McCleese ran the ball back the entire 96 yards for a Central touchdown. A kick for the extra point, the first of three by Charles Holmes, gave Central a lead over Madison of 7-0.

Later in the initial quarter, on a fourth down, Madison punted to the Red Wings, who intercepted the ball to the MHS 8, setting up another Central touchdown and a 14-0 advantage. Mike Penn ran the ball over from three yards out.

Both teams failed to move the clock well in the second quarter. Madison failing to take advantage of Central penalties.

Central returned the third-period kickoff to its own 45 and played a ground game to move the ball down to the Madison one-yard line.

A handoff by Quarterback Lawrence Gray to Holmes gave the Red Wings another touchdown and a 21-0 lead.

The Trojans went to the air to gain yardage in Central territory, but penalties against them moved the ball back into

Granite City Press-Record
Page 6 Mon., Sept. 17, 1973

home grounds, where they were stopped cold by the Red Wing defense.

In the fourth quarter, with Madison on its 28, Trojan Quarterback Emmett Timmons handed the ball to Chris Stanley, who carried the ball out to the MHS 48. But the Trojans again were forced to turn over the ball.

Next Madison regained possession on a penalty, which set up the only Trojan touchdown.

In eight plays, Madison moved the ball deep into enemy territory to the four-yard line, from where Stanley ran around the right end and into the end zone.

A try for two points failed and the score stood at 21-6. Madison failed to take adequate advantage of a Central fumble after the kickoff of a penalty against the Red Wings.

With only minutes left to play the Central team on a fourth down field goal attempt missed from the Madison 12.

MHS Quarterback Daryl Jones, on a first down play, threw a pass which was intercepted by Central on the Trojan 20. Sam Hamilton took the aerial and carried it over the goal. A kick for the extra point failed.

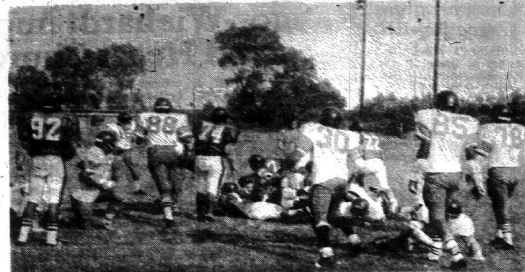

In the final seconds, Madison Used all its time out to stop the clock and moved to the Central four-yard line. But a pass into the end zone was intercepted as time ran out.

Citing mistakes as the cause of the defeat, Coach Al Vonder Haar said the Trojans' attitude remains good and they will concentrate on fundamentals this week to reduce the postgame errors in the next game at Alton Marquette Friday night.

He is undecided about whether to utilize Timmons as the starting quarterback.

TOUCHDOWN SIGNAL is given by an official early in Friday afternoon's varsity game on the Madison gridiron. The Central High School Red Wings of St. Louis had just scored their second TD enroute to a 27-6 win. James Turner of MHS has brought down Curt McCleese. Trojans visible include Daryl Franklin (92), Carl Campbell (72) and Robert Wilson (43). (Press-Record photo)

An "impossible dream" of a football victory for a brand new school's opening game seemed a bright possibility for much of the contest here Friday night. Granite City High School North played impressively, particularly in the first half, but was destined to lose 20-6.

The Jacksonville Crimson Tide proved to be too much for the Steelers after the 6-6 first half deadlock.

The Steelers opened their first-ever season with a bang, performing like an experienced and seasoned football team, instead of the young and relatively inexperienced squad the Coach Tom Wyrstok had built in just one short month.

North, with junior quarterback Gene Logas in command, utilized the wishbone formation and seven minutes of the first quarter to move the ball in 15 plays to the Jacksonville 15-yard line. A handoff to Halfback Mike Donoff for a TD run gave North a 6-0 lead. A kick for the extra point failed.

Only seconds later, the score was tied when Jacksonville's Ben Denney returned the Steelers' kickoff 80 yards to the end zone for a Crimson touchdown.

North's defense stopped Jacksonville cold for the remainder of the first half, aided by enemy fumbles and penalties.

North, after Al Sunderlich downed a Crimson fumble on the Steeler 32-yard line, was penalized five yards for illegal motion.

Logas completed a pass to Cary Simpson on the seven-yard line to set up a potential Steeler touchdown, but Halfback Bill Carr, after receiving a pass from Logas at the four-yard line, lost possession and the recovery was made by Jacksonville.

The Crimson defense later recovered another Steeler fumble on a missed handoff.

With one minute left in the first half, Donoff, in breaking up a Jacksonville drive, had to be taken off the playing field with a broken ankle.

The Steeler defense again stopped ground plays cold for over five minutes of the third quarter, but the air power of Quarterback Warren Lewis proved tough to contain.

In the closing seconds of the quarter, Lewis, in a power "1" formation from the Steeler four, passed to Reggie Benton in the end zone. The second Jacksonville touchdown and another Lewis to Benton pass for two points made it 14-6.

In the fourth quarter, in a third down and goal situation at the Steeler eight-yard line, Lewis found tight end Matt Fearson open in the end zone and threw a strike to him.

The Steeler defense, headed by John McMillion, Ed Schmidt, Rick Bohnenstiel and Otto Seebold, was highly praised by Jacksonville Coach Gary Spangenberg.

"Their defense against our ground plays cannot be described with words alone," he commented.

"Every move we made, they were there to stop us."

Spangenberg said the Steeler "monster defense" stunned his players until they discovered that a passing game could be effective. North also moved well through the air.

Steeler Coach Wyrstok said his gridders learned a lot from their first game and "we'll be prepared all the way around when we meet Assumption Saturday."

The Steelers will host the Pioneers of Assumption (East St. Louis) in a 1:30 p.m. game Saturday at the Fehling Road (South High) stadium.

Baseball Cards end losing streak, oppose hot Expos

Down if not out, the St. Louis baseball Cardinals, yesterday defeated Pittsburgh 7-5 to climb back to within two games of first place in the National League East Division.

A home run by Tommy Agee and timely hitting by Tim McCarver paced the Cardinals' attack. Pitcher Alan Foster gained the victory.

Earlier results in the three-game series at Busch Stadium were not as happy.

Mike Nagy pitched well and the Cardinals threatened often but lost 7-4 Saturday. On Friday night, Nelson Briles outpitched Reggie Cleveland in a 3-1 Pirate victory.

Second-place Montreal is a half-game from the lead. The Cardinals are third two out and three on the loss side, and the fourth-place New York Mets are 2½ games out.

Now that its seven-game losing streak has ended, St. Louis is hopeful of renewing its pennant prospects through a better performance on a week-long road trip. The journey begins with a 4:30 p.m. doubleheader today at Montreal against the hot-hitting Expos.

Solid Warrior effort almost enough against Rams

"Wise old Warriors say, 'sack it to 'em.'"

These were the words the visiting Riverview Gardens, Mo., Rams saw as they entered the Granite City High School South stadium Saturday afternoon. Heeding the warning, they took advantage of a fourth quarter Warrior fumble to rally for a 23-19 win.

Both teams fought hard throughout the game but the Rams came through when it counted the most by taking advantage of fumbles and pass interceptions, turning them into points.

South trailed 16-0 and led 19-16 before the deciding enemy TD. The first touchdown came in the opening minutes when the Ram defense hit Dale Williams, who had just received a handoff from Quarterback Dave Dombek on the South 24. The ball was knocked loose and gathered in by Mark Laney, who ran it into the end zone.

The score became 7-0 and the Warrior defense gave River-view another two points when a fourth down punt landed in the end zone, was touched by Dale Williams and was recovered by the Rams for a safety.

After a quick return to the Ram 41 in the second quarter, Archie Rippetto, on a handoff from Quarterback Jeff Gowan, ran 84 yards into the end zone for another touchdown and a 16-0 lead.

Keith Moran, on a Warrior punt, recovered the ball on the Ram 15. A Dave Dombek pass to Jerry Sedabres in the end zone to put the Warriors on the scoreboard. A pass for two points failed.

With only 47 seconds left in the first half, Warriors Doug Griffith and Greg Terrell broke up two Ram passes that were sure touchdowns to force a turnover of the football on the Warrior 25.

Early in the third quarter, in which Linebacker Kevin Hols was injured, Dombek on third down dodged several tacklers in running down the sidelines 62 yards for a TD. A pass fell incomplete and it was 16-12.

South gained the lead in the same quarter after recovering a fumble and marching to Ram 15-yard line, where the Steelers executed one of the best plays of the game.

Dombek pitched the ball to Halfback Williams, who faked a run but passed to Tom Schooley, who was wide open in the end zone for the TD.

Soccer style kicker Bryan Bunjan put the ball through the uprights for the extra point and South had a 19-16 edge.

Coch Wayne Williams saw his team's lead disappear in the fourth quarter when the Warriors, after recovering a fumble, got their signals mixed up and fumbled themselves on the South 21.

A Ram drive ended with a screen pass into the end zone for another Riverview touchdown. The extra point kick made it 23-

19. The Warriors lost their only remaining chance of winning when Dombek, from his own 37, hurled a pass deep into Ram territory. It bounced off the chest of Sedabres, who was open at the Ram 20.

Granite City South will carry its 6-1 record to O'Fallon Friday for an 8 p.m. match with the Panthers, who are fresh from a 34-7 romp over Bethalto.

Hart, Anderson and Metcalf star in 34-23 Big Red win

Cardinal football—colorful, exciting, nerve-racking.

This was the prediction when Don Corvill was chosen as the St. Louis pro grid coach, and the Big Red lived up to expectations Sunday with a season-opening 34-23 win at Philadelphia.

In view of Corvill's outstanding college record built off offense, high scoring may become the Cardinal norm. Despite this prospect, Eagle fans were shocked to see the visitors ahead 21-0 midway through the first quarter.

Jim Hart had passed two yards to Donny Anderson for a TD. After a fumble on the next kickoff was recovered by the Cardinals, Anderson scored on a four-yard run. Hart then passed to Mel Gray on a 43-yard TD play.

The first quarter ended 21-3 and it was 24-0 at halftime as Jim Bakken and Tom Dempsey traded field goals.

But the momentum changed sharply in the third period as fumbles began to plague St. Louis. Roman Gabriel passed for a touchdown and, with another field goal, the score became 24-16.

In the fourth quarter, another Gabriel TD pass made it 24-23. But the Cardinals avoided panic and put together a long march which ended with a 26-yard Bakken field goal and a 27-23 lead with 70 seconds left.

St. Louis grabbed the fumbled kickoff and was on the scoreboard with another touchdown within 15 seconds. Anderson ran the ball over to the enemy 21, and the ensuing Eagle drive in the final minute lacked punch.

Terry Metcalf sparked by running for more than 100 yards.

Each quarterback threw for two TDs. Hart outdueling Gabriel with a 17-of-29 completion record and 204 yards, to Gabriel's 22-of-36 and 160 yards. The Big Red next Sunday will host Washington, which smashed San Diego 48-0 yesterday.

With O. J. Simpson gaining a record 250 yards rushing, Buffalo beat New England 31-13.

It was Miami 21-13 over San Francisco, Minnesota 14-16 over Oakland, New York Giants 24-14 over Houston, Dallas 20-17 over Chicago, Cleveland 24-14 over Baltimore, Atlanta 42-7 over New Orleans, Pittsburgh 24-10 over Detroit, Denver 28-10 over Cincinnati and Los Angeles 23-13 over Kansas City.

The New York Jets visit Green Bay at Milwaukee tonight.

North unbeaten in soccer, faces strong South squad

The undefeated North High soccer Steelers will carry a 4-0 record into today's 4 p.m. game against the Pioneers of Assumption (East St. Louis) at Wilson Park before going against the defending state champions, the Warriors of GCHS-South, at the park at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Steelers Coach Bob Kehoe said assuming they are victorious today, our game with South should be the game of the year because it will be setting off the first rivalry between the two schools.

North, in Thursday's game against Gibault at Watkebe, had 3-0 shots and scored on four of them to win 4-0.

Center Forward Dave Wolf scored two goals in the first half and Halfbacks Harvey Breckner and Dave Roberson each scored in the second half.

In a home game Friday against St. Paul of Highland, Halfback Dan Sedel, on a long shot outside of the penalty area, scored in the first half of play.

Two goals late in the fourth period by Dennis Jones gave the Steelers a 3-1 win. Both Jones goals had assists from Breckner.

The Steelers handed Waukegan a double defeat Saturday at Wilson Park.

Kevin Gavlick scored on a pass from Wolfe and during a scramble in front of the goal Mike Demaree pushed one into the corner in a 3-0 North win.

The next game was won 3-2 with two goals by Dennis Jones and one by Joe Uram.

Durborow captures Kincaid cycle title

Danny Durborow, 5151 Old Alton Road, upset the professionals by riding his motorcycle to victory last week in the American Motorcycle Association sanctioned Kincaid (Ill.) short track cycle racing championship.

The 17-year-old, a regular competitor at local speedways for the past two years, finished third in his heat race and then lined up next to Preston Windom and Mike Munn of Ohio for the start of the ten-lap grand finale.

The three riders charged side-by-side into the first corner when the green flag dropped, signaling the start of the event.

By the third lap around the one-third mile dirt oval, Durborow was running third behind Munn and Windom. One lap later, the youngster dropped out of the groove to pass Munn and challenge Windom wheel to wheel for two laps before passing him.

Durborow crossed the finish line a half-lap ahead of the other nine riders for the win.

His father, Dan Durborow Sr., said his son will be riding on the professional circuit beginning next year; this involves competing in racing events all over the United States.

GC harriers outdistanced

Granite City High School South Warrior harriers finished eighth and the North Steelers finished 14th in a field of 15 teams at the Belleville West invitational cross-country run Saturday.

The best school took first place on the three-mile, hilly course. Centralia finished second and Marissa third.

South kickers split pair at Jacksonville

Granite City High School South's soccer kickers survived the toughest weekend of the season with a split, losing to number one ranked New Trier East 3-0 Friday but defeating number two ranked Oak Park 7-1 Saturday. Both games were at Jacksonville.

A week's Chicago ranking listed GCHS-S as third in the state under its two weekend opponents.

Granite City's outlook New Trier 22 to 18 and had only 17 fouls compared to 22 for New Trier.

Oak Park proved an easier opponent than the rankings would have indicated at Warrior Don Goldschmidt slipped through the defense for four goals, two on penalty kicks. He also was credited with three assists.

Charlie Bennington earned two goals and Dave Sheridan had one. Keith Gehling was credited with two assists.

Goalie Keith Kibort held Oak Park scoreless until he was relieved in the third quarter. The only Oak Park goal was scored in the final minute of the game.

Granite City shot 19 times while allowing Oak Park only eight. The Warriors were called for 14 fouls while the foes had 18.

The Warriors, with a 2-1 record, will meet GCHS-North in a game at Wilson Park at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. The game will mark the sports event with competition between the two schools.

2 students will join SIU board

Students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will have a direct voice in the university's governing process through representation on the SIU Board of Trustees.

Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker last week signed a bill making it possible for state universities and junior colleges to have student representation on their governing state boards.

Many private schools already have such representation. Chuck Mecum, student body president at SIUE, notes that the bill was passed overwhelmingly in the House and Senate.

"Without the help and organization of the Association of Illinois Student Governments, we wouldn't have been able to effect that kind of triumph," he said.

Mecum sees this as "an initial step in the integration of students and administrators."

He also believes student representation will promote greater understanding for students in how university government works.

"I am optimistic about having a student in the government process at this level and hope that eventually student representatives on the Board of Trustees will have voting privileges," he concluded.

New laws implement ban on sex discrimination

Gov. Dan Walker on Thursday signed 10 bills implementing the 1970 Constitution's ban on discrimination because of sex.

Gov. Walker renewed his pledge to continue fighting for the ratification of ERA. And he urged further legislation and "new attitudes" toward women's rights so that equal employment and better pay for women are assured.

Gov. Walker said: "The bills I am signing today represent the most significant progress yet toward erasing discrimination against women from Illinois law."

"Illinois—the first state to ratify women's suffrage—still is holding out on the equal rights amendment."

"ERA must have Illinois ratification and I will continue to fight for that."

Nine other bills were part of a package introduced by the eight women state representatives after the General Assembly rejected ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Park plan abandoned

Area observance of the U.S. Bicentennial in 1976 will be directed and organized under community sponsorship, with mayors and city officials of the municipalities taking the lead in development of celebration programs. It was decided in a meeting here Thursday night of the Madison-St. Clair County Bicentennial Commission.

Local observances will replace an earlier plan calling for establishment of $25 million park facility linking the present Cahokia Mounds State Park and Horseshoe Lake, which is to be developed also as a state park, according to Henry D. Karandjoff of Granite City, Madison County co-chairman of the Madison-St. Clair County Commission.

Karandjoff said that the bicentennial park proposal has been eliminated by the federal government's decision not to distribute a $1.3 billion bicentennial allotment among the country's 50 states.

Under the original plan developed as the federal contribution to the bicentennial observance, Illinois would have received $23 million to hold the bicentennial celebration in this state, with various locations competing for the funds through development of celebration plans.

The local area program which was supported by taxing agencies, civic groups and other organizations of the Madison-St. Clair County area called for development of a cultural area linking the two present park areas, containing a museum and including facilities for meetings and conferences, entertainment and public exhibits.

Karandjoff said the federal government has replaced its original proposal to divide $1.3 billion between the states, with a proposal to give each state $40,000 for its bicentennial program development.

"This is hardly a drop in the bucket and would be insufficient to support any kind of a major area development," he added. Charles Daily resigned during Thursday night's meeting as St. Clair County co-chairman of the area commission. Daily is board chairman of the Edgemont Bank & Trust Co. His replacement will be considered by the commission in its next regular meeting Nov. 7.

Speakers at Thursday's meeting in the board room of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, of which Karandjoff is board chairman, included Samuel Lilly of Chicago, executive director of the Illinois Bicentennial Commission, and Tim Savers, Chicago, Illinois bicentennial coordinator for the state commission.

Karandjoff said the commission expects to meet in the near future with area mayors and tax agency officials to discuss possible projects for celebration of the country's 200th birthday.

Life of 'man's best friend' regulated under state law

The dog, traditionally man's most loyal friend and companion, has a legal defender and guardian under the Illinois law which both protects and regulates the life of the canine, according to the Illinois State Bar Association.

To keep track of the increasing dog population (Chicago alone has over 60,000 dogs registered, only a small portion if the statewide population), the law provides that an owner must have a license for his dog.

The license fee is $1 for each male or sterilized female dog and $3 for each unsterilized female dog.

The owner is then given a metallic tag which state the home county, license number and date of issuance. The tag must be affixed to a collar around the dog's neck.

Another regulation to which dog owners must adhere is the annual rabies shot for dogs four months old or older.

After this procedure, the dog receives another certificate and a serially numbered tag which should also be attached to his collar for permanent identification.

According to Illinois law, a dog found running at large without evidence of the rabies inoculation may be impounded by authorities.

If there is no other identifying tag on the animal, the rabies inspector is required to hold the dog at least seven days to give his owners an opportunity to find it.

To get the dog back in their possession, owners must pay for the dog's rabies shot, a $1 penalty and the board of the animal for the time it was impounded.

Teaching a dog good manners is of utmost importance to an owner since the latter is liable for his dog's transgressions. Thus, if the animal happens to attack or injure some peaceable and unsuspecting person, it's the owner who may be liable.

This same ruling holds true for the dog's relationships with other animals.

According to the law, an owner is liable if his dog pursues, chases, worries, wounds or kills any sheep, goats, cattle, horses, mules, poultry or swine belonging to another person.

The damages can become rather costly if the dog is an aggressive type, and to date no dog has been exonerated for his action because of an unfortunate home environment.

Double registration of student voters illegal

Attorney General William J. Scott has held in an official opinion that Illinois voters cannot be registered to vote in two different counties at the same time.

Scott's opinion held further that election officials can deny registration to any individual who refuses to cancel a previous registration in another county.

The opinion, given to Cook County State's Attorney John J. McCarthy Jr., dealt specifically with the matter of registering Illinois students attending Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, but the Scott opinion applies to all qualified Illinois voters.

State's Attorney McCarthy sought Scott's opinion after EIU students were advised in a local publication that they could register to vote in Cook County even though they were registered in a different county.

Scott held, however, "if the applicant for registration was last registered in another county of this state then he is required by authorizing cancellation of the former registration."

The attorney general noted that the requirement insures against double-voting and is "a reasonable requirement to insure the integrity of the election process as required by Section 4 of Article III of the 1970 Illinois Constitution."

Scott's opinion concluded by stressing, "it is my opinion that an applicant under 21 who applies for registration must receive the identical treatment and be subject to the same inquiries as in other words, equal treatment for all in the matter of voter registration."

Scott campaign gifts held to $6,000 limit

Springfield—Atty. Gen. William Scott accepted no campaign contribution over $6,000 in his bid for re-election last year. He spent approximately $422,000 in the campaign.

Although Scott, a Republican, detailed his campaign finances during unfavorable publicity about Gov. Daniel Walker's finances, he had promised since early last spring to do so.

Walker is in the midst of a heated battle with newspapers, primarily in Chicago, which have made public the names of dozens of top contributors to his campaign. He has denied that the contributions have influenced his actions as governor or that his huge deficit of over $1 million has played any role in his administration.

Reports indicate that a few people contributed or loaned $50,000 and raised more money than that from other sources.

Scott, on the other hand, arrived at his $6,000 figure in part because that is the maximum deduction allowed for a husband and wife under certain federal gift tax laws.

The attorney general said he received only one $6,000 contribution from an individual. He did not want to publicly identify him, other than as a "long-time friend, millionaire businessman," because other politicians would go to him for money.

He said "former and present Democratic office holders" contributed to his campaign, but he did not want to publicly identify them because it would be politically embarrassing to them.

"Other non-political persons contributed," he said, "but businessmen don't want to be named because the (Democratic) city inspector would be on him. That's just a fact of life."

W. Clement Stone, the insurance tycoon who gave President Nixon millions, contributed $3,000.

The Teamsters, the largest union in the state, contributed $6,000 to his campaign, $1,000 from each of their six districts. The United Auto Workers, the second largest union, gave approximately $3,000 plus a station wagon.

The bulk of his campaign money came from two fund-raising dinners, one in Chicago during the primary and one in Springfield some months later. The Chicago affair grossed $234,000 and the Capital City one $136,000.

In addition, Scott had a $187,000 "cushion" accumulated at the beginning of the official campaign. That money came from a testimonial dinner in a non-election year plus the money left over from the 1968 campaign.

He has a balance of approximately $100,000 in a trust fund which can be used for future political races.

The expenses were listed as: $220,000 for radio and television advertising; $90,000 for further advertising and printing; $23,000 for newspaper advertising; $30,000 to stage the fund-raising dinners (including the cost of the food); $30,000 for office expenses and rent; $15,000 for postage; $11,000 for public relations; $12,000 for contributions to other organizations (such as the Independent Voters of Illinois); $7,500 for travel expenses; plus a few thousand for miscellaneous items.

As for not spending all of the money he raised during the campaign, Scott explained that since he first ran for office he has not gone into debt. He prefers to spend the money only as it comes in, and whatever is left over is used in part to pay the political expenses of office in non-election years.

Property tax freeze idea is still alive

A legislative subcommittee may be causing some interest in Illinois, especially among taxpayers.

The resolution forming the subcommittee was sponsored by Sen. Terrell Clarke, R-Western Springs. The membership will come from the Senate and House Revenue Committees.

It will have 12 members. The subcommittee is to report back to the General Assembly by March 1, 1974, which may be extended because of the meeting dates of the General Assembly next year.

One of the areas to be studied by the subcommittee deals with the property tax freeze.

For two legislative sessions Rep. C. L. McCormick, R-Vernon, has been trying to pass legislation that would provide for a property tax freeze at current levels. This session he was successful in getting the legislation out of the House and to the Senate.

McCormick's reasoning for such a move basically is that if the tax rates and levels are frozen for at least two years, local governmental units will be able to give taxpayers some indication as to where they, the local governments and the taxpayers, are going.

It could also give the local governmental units time to develop priorities, he believes.

The subcommittee would also look at the freeze as to how it would affect tax assessments. The subcommittee is further expected to look into the constitutional mandate dealing with personal property tax abatement.

The subcommittee is expected to look into possible alternatives as to how local governments will raise revenues. The subcommittee is hopeful that in this area perhaps some early legislative guidelines can be developed.

The system used by the Local Government Affairs Department in the equalizing of tax assessments also will be studied by the subcommittee.

This program has come under fire in certain quarters of local-level government.

GC Park District plans trip to dinner theatre

The Granite City Park District will sponsor an excursion to the newly opened Curtain Up Dinner Theatre at Ballwin, Mo., on Sunday, Oct. 14, Harold Brown, park superintendent, announced today. Reservations, limited to 45 persons, will be accepted through Sept. 28 at the Wilson Park office.

Tickets cost $10.35 each and include a performance of "Any Wednesday," a smorgasbord dinner and roundtrip travel operation by chartered bus, Brown said.

The new dinner theatre accommodates 300 patrons and is accented by well spaced tables for two, four and six people along roomy aisles.

Tables are arranged in tiers around a thrust stage, creating a more intimate atmosphere and close viewing range for the audience, Brown said.

The management reported that Curtain Up will present Broadway comedies and musicals, featuring prominent personalities from the theater, movies and television.

A variety of entrees will be offered at the Back Stage Buffet, including meats, and fish, attractive salads, hot vegetables, relishes, hot rolls and butter, special desserts; and coffee tea and milk.

"Any Wednesday" is a romantic comedy filled with sharp, witty dialogue about a wiseful ex-school teacher and one-time author of children's books whose private life is not according to the "school marm" tradition.

A bus will leave the Wilson Park rink area at 4 p.m. Oct. 14, returning about 10:30 p.m., Brown said.

Urges levee cost cut

A cutback in all departments of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, reducing both the work crews and clerical force, will be sought by Jack Scoville of East St. Louis, a St. Clair County levee trustee who said Friday that the district is facing bankruptcy.

Scoville said he will urge the cutbacks because of the district's worsening financial condition which will not be helped by an expected $386,000 federal grant, part of which is expected to be received this week.

The trustee said the district has $350,000 worth of outstanding bills and still has 11 pavilions to meet at approximately $35,000 each before the district will be able to issue anticipation warrants next March. The district now has exhausted most of its anticipated income for the current year, he said.

In addition a retroactive wage settlement with Operating Engineers Local 18 will cost the district about $30,000 in addition to a wage increase of 25 cents an hour. The district also is negotiating new contracts with the teamster and laborers unions.

Grid jamboree Wednesday

In preparation for the 1973 junior high school football season, which begins next week, the sixth annual Junior High School Football Jamboree will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. on the Prather football field.

Prather, Coolidge and Grigsby will each play two 10-minute quarters.

Coolidge will open the action against Grigsby, followed by Grigsby meeting Prather and winding up with Prather against Coolidge.

Prather will open the season in a home game against West at 4 p.m. Monday, Sept. 24.

Coolidge, the defending conference champion, and Grigsby will both see initial action on Wednesday, Sept. 26. Coolidge will host Edwardsville at home and Grigsby will travel to Collinsville to meet Webster Junior High.

All games will begin at 4 p.m. and will involve 8th grade players only.

Some farmers plan to begin weeding this week. Sept. 20 is about the latest date to cut alfalfa for hay and still allow enough growth for the stand to go into the winter in a vigorous condition.

Lower soybean yield in county

By WARREN W. BUNDY

Extension Adviser

Farmers in the eastern part of Madison County have harvested a few fields of soybeans. Yields reported range from 20 to 25 bushels per acre.

Last year, soybeans averaged 31 bushels per acre in Madison County. My guess now is they will average 27 bushels per acre this year.

An elevator manager in Edwardsville said Thursday that no new beans have been delivered to his elevator. Price offered that day was $5.46 per bushel.

A year ago on Sept. 15, Illinois farmers received $3.15 a bushel for soybeans, according to the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service.

Some fields of soybeans in Madison County likely will yield 45 or more bushels per acre, but late planting and spotty stands will result in lower soybean yields than usual in most fields here.

GC Business Women to hear utility executive

Carl E. Mathias, area service manager for Illinois Power Co., and an active civic leader, will address the Granite City Business and Professional Women's membership kickoff dinner at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Charlie's Restaurant.

The affair is open to any working woman in the Quad City area who may be interested in joining the club or would like to know more about its objectives, Mrs. Shirley Adams, membership chairman, said.

Reservations will be accepted through noon Tuesday by calling Mrs. Lois Wetton, at 787-0638; Mrs. Verna Lengyel, 876-8372; or Mrs. Florence Sphar at 877-0625.

"Challenge for Commitment" is the theme for membership this year in the local BPW club, and this theme will be projected at the dinner," Mrs. Adams said. She noted that recruiting new members will continue for the next several weeks, although September has been designated as membership month.

The chairman said in meeting the challenge for commitment, women possess a sense of responsibility to themselves and to other women in BPW throughout the country.

Many discover that BPW membership provides "the leverage to elevate the standards, promote the interest, engender a spirit of cooperation and extend opportunities for themselves and other women," Mrs. Adams said.

Several new members will be inducted into the club at Wednesday's dinner in ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Lily Chaboudis and Mrs. Bonnie Lazenby of the membership committee.

Methods of encouraging individuals to join an organization and in promoting enthusiasm within a group for an idea or project will be the topic of the dinner speaker, Mrs. Adams said.

Mathias had led successful drives as general co-chairman of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund campaigns in 1966 and 1967 and has been a leader in many projects requiring voluntary public participation.

In 1968, the Illinois Power executive was named winner of the Liberty Bell Award, bestowed by the Madison County Bar Association for outstanding community ser-

Soil is Garden Club topic

Mrs. Robert McCauley presented a program on "Soil" at a meeting of the Glenview Garden Club last week in the home of Mrs. Richard Braiding, 2439 Lynch Ave.

She explained the different types of soil needed to plant various species of plants so they will thrive and grow.

The club president, Mrs. William Bradley, opened the meeting and announced two forthcoming flower shows. District 5 will host a show Sept. 27 at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville and the Lakeview Garden Club of Collinsville is planning a show on Oct. 6.

Plans were finalized for the club to take a guided tour at Pere Marquette State Park on Oct. 9 in lieu of its monthly meeting. All who plan to attend are to leave at 10 a.m.

The club also completed arrangements to plant different kinds of bulbs in November in Steward Park as a club project for community beautification.

Attending the meeting were 11 members and three guests, Mrs. Joseph Ropac, Mrs. Thomas Williams and Mrs. Donald Hurlburt.

Miss Connie I. Bolt and Julius J. Balsai are wed

Miss Connie Isabelle Bolt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Breen Bolt, 1619 Maple St., became the bride of Julius John Balsai, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Balsai, 1618 Maple St., Saturday evening at the Church of Christ, 2130 Clark St.

The Rev. Giles Hester performed the double ring candle-light ceremony within an archway accented with greenery in the church sanctuary at 7 o'clock. Keith Curtis, soloist, sang "And I Love You So," "More," "Close To You" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Mr. Bolt gave his daughter in marriage. She selected a full length gown of white chiffon over satin fashioned in an Empire style. The bodice and sleeves were of lace and a full sweep satin train, edged with a tiny satin ruffle, enhanced the slightly gathered skirt.

A Juliet cap etched with seashells and seed pearls held in place an elbow length veil, and she carried a white carnation bouquet centered with a white orchid.

Miss Rosalie Bolt, a sister of the bride, served as honor attendant. She was attired in a formal length dress of yellow chiffon over satin. The Empire bodice was designed with a square neckline and short sleeves edged in lace.

To complement her attire she wore a white picture hat trimmed with yellow ribbon and she carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped yellow.

The bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Noe and Mrs. Ruby Ishum, another sister of the bride, and Miss Cynthia Hand, a niece of the bride, junior bridesmaids, were dressed in identically designed frocks in rainbow colors of mint green, pastel pink and aqua.

Their flowers and picture hats were in shades to match the gowns.

Lisa Ishum and Shelia Hand, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore white satin frocks and carried baskets of rose petals.

Serving as ringbearers were Joseph and Darla Bolt, the bride's niece and nephew.

The groom chose his brother, Andrew Balsai, as best man.

Ronnie Petri, a cousin of the groom, Joe Bolt, a brother of the bride, and Steve and Joey Balsai, the groom's brothers, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Bolt, mother of the bride, was gowned in an avocado green street length dress in crepe, enhanced with an embroidered trim at the neckline and waist.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Balsai, chose a two-piece street length dress in light blue. The matching jacket was beaded around the neckline.

A reception was given at the VFW Post 1300, at 2044 Washington Ave., immediately following the service.

After a wedding trip to Missouri, the newly married couple will reside in Granite City.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Balsai graduated from Granite City High School. The bride is employed at Bussman Fuse Co., St. Louis.

Her husband completed four years duty with the U.S. Navy and is now working at Alton Boxboard in Alton.

Comment and analysis

Sept. 17, 1973

State dictating, by fair means and otherwise, the path that this region follows in planning community college services and taxation

The sequence of comments and actions within the past year regarding Quad-City area junior college prospects does nothing to bolster public confidence in the bureaucratic process. Those involved in some of the planning here have encountered in their state contacts a veritable minefield of traps, snares and, perhaps, delusions.

In any event, the Illinois Junior College Board's administrative staff has finally made it abundantly clear that it will do all it can to block any new junior college.

It has encountered a financial crunch causing it to renege on financial aid to existing college districts well below the promised level. It would much prefer to "serve" the rest of the state by widening some of the present districts' boundaries, regardless of whether true "community college" services are provided.

The question of whether there should be a junior college here is still debatable in the minds of a number of people. Some think a fight should be made against the new state law compelling all non-district territory to become a part of or create a college district.

Certainly, those required to pay for a junior college through property taxes ought to be served by one, and not just half-heartedly. LJC administrators are wrong in concluding that the southern area of Madison County can be adequately served by an attendance center situated many long and congested miles away.

Never content with the actual

Protestant Welfare helps local families solve diversity of problems

(One of a series of agencies of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.) Protestant Welfare Association—32 churches and three organizations belong to the Association, and the ministers of the Churches serve as directors for the day to counsel people, in addition to helping them materially.

The welfare agency devotes its efforts toward moral, social and spiritual betterment of people within the Quad-City area; renders assistance to families who are in need, or who seek special assistance in solving the complex problems of life; and render service to the needy while at no time deviating from the principles of Christianity.

It cooperates with all local, county, state and federal agencies wording of the Illinois statutes related to colleges, the LJC administrators have built up a series of guidelines and assumptions with which they have proved to their satisfaction that a new district here would be costly and ineffective.

We are reminded of the state statistics which for years "proved" that Nameoki Road traffic controls were adequate; only in the last few weeks has common sense begun to prevail on the latter subject.

The staff will advise the Junior College Board on Friday and the board presumably will formally deny the application to create a proposed Southwestern Community College.

The four remaining alternatives to be spotlighted by the LJC staff Friday are annexing to Lewis and Clark College at Godfrey or the Belleville Area College, forming a new Class I (taxpaying) district to include State Community College at East St. Louis, or forming a new district to include the Quad-Cities, East St. Louis and Collinsville.

In view of verified instances of insincerity in some of the past LJC staff statements, citizens are left to guess how open the four supposed options really are, or whether the "choice" is one rather than one of four.

Meanwhile, we continue to move "forward" at a speed and direction dictated—not by the public's thinking, but by an administrative staff separated from this region not only by geography but unfamiliarity.

School scouting night Sept. 20

The United District of the Cahokia Mount Boy Scout Council made autumn plans at its monthly roundtable meeting last week at the Nameoki Recreation Center. Ron Luebbers, roundtable commissioner, was in charge.

As each person arrived he was presented with a game to introduce himself to the other guests. Darlene Smith, committee woman from Cub Pack 46 of the Nameoki PTA, led the group in singing.

Pat Shable of the roundtable staff instructed Norvella Ashall, den leader coach, and Donna Butkovich, den leader of Cub Pack 46 in "I can't be done."

Sue Moss and Karen Frazer, den leaders from Pack 22 of Frohhardt PTA, Lona Summer, den leader from Pack 121 of the Wilson PTA, and Leon Allen, committee chairman of Wilson Pack 122, demonstrated a "gorilla and kangaroo race."

Bob LaRue, committee chairman from Pack 102 of the St. Elizabeth PTA, and Dwight Smith, committee chairman from Pack 46, showed the "One man push over the line."

Charles Smith, cubmaster of Mitchell PTA, Pack 141, and George Peo, commissioner, presented "Foot push," while Lois Wright and Wayne Robertson, den leaders of Niedringhaus PTA, Pack 12, Barb Schwerdtman, den leader coach from Pack 20 of Webster PTA, and Linda Noud, den leader coach of Madison Presbyterian Pack 21, showed how to play the "Back to back push."

Mrs. Ashall and Butkovich were in charge of the "show and tell" session on a "Viking Discoverers" theme. An advancement map, "Thor's hammer," vikings, boats, shields, flags, tunics, suit of armor and hood were shown and the making of them was explained to the group.

Mrs. Marge Peo, roundtable commissioner from the 11th District, and George Peo, district commissioner, were introduced by Luebbers as guests. Mrs. Peo pointed out the importance of saving "program helps" from year to year because the theme series rotates every two years.

Dwight Smith explained Webelos requirements for the athlete activity badge and the purposes of a program in physical fitness.

Floyd Jordan Jr., district training chairman, announced that training sessions for all cub leaders will be held at the Central Christian Church Oct. 15 and Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. Mrs. Vee Throne, den leader of Pack 19 of the Washington PTA, and Shirley Gaudette, committee woman of Pack 98 of Stallings PTA, will receive training certificates in the near future. The awards are presented for completing two years as leaders and meeting all the training requirements.

Mark Yehling, district executive, presented Jordan with a "veteran certificate" from the National Boy Scout Council for 25 years' service in scouting.

Yehling announced that a "Punks & Poppin'" sale will begin this weekend. Those interested in selling popcorn for their unit are to contact the Council.

"School Night for Scouting" will be held Sept. 20 at schools in the district. All boys are to wear their uniforms to school that day.

"Scout Good Turn Day" was held Saturday at the Washington Theatre. All registered scouts were to go, along with a buddy who is not registered.

Every boy bringing a buddy will receive a patch for his shirt. Prizes will be awarded and an award will be presented to outstanding scout for heroism.

The movie, "Go Scouting," was shown to the group to spotlight recruiting. The meeting closed with all receiving kits to make boats to bring to next month's meeting. Mrs. Smith led the singing of "Taps."

Next month's meeting at the Nameoki Recreation Center will feature "Genius" for Cubs and "Craftsman" for Webelos.

Suggest buyers look twice at freezer-meat 'deals'

Springfield—If a given quantity of food can be purchased one place for $20 and another place for $60, any intelligent person will buy it for the lower price, right?

Wrong. In increasing numbers, Illinois consumers are signing contracts committing them to pay roughly twice the retail price for foods after a 60-day sales period.

A little advance thought, says special investigator Peggy Bastas, should tell the prospective buyer that buying a freezer, on time, to fill with food bought on time isn't going to save any money. Finance charges alone would eat up any possible savings.

"If you can a firm have a salesman come to your door, and deliver your order right to your door, and still save money over your supermarket," she asks. Since most people might wonder the same thing, given a little time, the salesman sees they don't have the time.

The standard pitch is "the contract must be signed right now, or you'll never have a chance at this saving again because we can't afford to have a salesman call on a customer more than once." Pressured, too many people, sign, only to find they're committed to pay $1.50 for a can of shortening (including a 100 per cent profit markup) when the same brand and size was selling at the nearest supermarket for 69 to 80 cents.

Generally, Mrs. Bastas says, the buyer should demand to see a price list, insist on having everything in writing, refuse to be pressured and shop for Guarantees in freezer plans usually cover the compressor for one year, compared to five years in most legitimate operations, he added.

Unfortunately for the buyer who didn't think twice before signing, there isn't much legal action to be taken, once that contract is signed. The contract he should have read carefully usually spells out clearly that there will be no refunds, that the food cannot be returned, and—most important—that the buyer understands "that the seller does not guarantee this food order to last over any period of time."

That isn't what the reasonable young man in your living room says; he talks in terms of six months, and even at $63 for that time, you'd be living high on the hard-to-get hog, paying less than $20 weekly for meat and groceries.

In two months or so, when the food supply has run out, you find the six months refers to the time you still have to pay under the contract, which the plan operator has already sold to a finance company, quite legally.

2 charged in SIUE robbery

Warrants were issued Thursday for the arrest of two Missouri men wanted in connection with an armed robbery July 19 at Tower Lake students housing on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The warrants were issued by Judge John Gitchell in Madison County Circuit Court on the basis of information gathered in an investigation conducted by SIUE security officers. The names of the subjects were withheld pending arrests.

Mike Butler, Herb Lomax and Russell Bauman, SIUE students and roommates, were robbed when Butler let four unidentified males into the students' apartment. The robbers struck Butler on the head, knocking him unconscious, and tied and gagged his roommates.

Butler later was charged with possession of narcotics, and his housing contract with the university was terminated. The charge is pending in Circuit Court.

Chouteau retires road tax warrant

The Chouteau town board last week retired a $10,000 anticipation warrant issued earlier this year for the road and bridge fund. It was incorrectly reported that the $10,000 payment was made to repay a $10,000 transfer from the general assistance fund.

Patricia Polley, town clerk, said the debt retirement was made out of tax funds received from the town and county tax collectors.

Inspection department guards against fraudulent repairs

"We are here to see that the people of Granite City are protected from fraudulent practices and to see that repair work to their homes is done right the first time and does not have to be done again," Robert Kelly, the Granite City building inspector, explained today.

Kelly said numerous homes in the city have experienced storm damage and roofs are beginning to leak, siding has been damaged and other losses have been experienced.

He explained that the city is not charging for permits to repair storm damage.

"We just do not feel it is right that homeowners whose property has been damaged by a storm should have to pay a fee for a permit to repair it," Kelly said.

"On roofs, for example, homeowners are receiving the benefit of 25 years of experience to keep them from spending their money for work that will have to be done again," he added.

"Granite City now has a beautification project underway and we want to help the people repair and beautify their homes," he said.

The normal permit fee is only $2 for each $1,000 worth of repairs or improvements, which is a real bargain for the services we offer. Again, I emphasize, there is no fee for permits to repair storm damage," Kelly concluded.

Plans will be announced for the annual state convention of the Illinois Parents of Hearing Impaired, sponsored this year by the local parents' organization.

The event will take place Nov. 3 and 4 at the SIUE campus.

GC Steel files $500,000 claim against 4 locals

A claim of $500,000 damages against four United Steelworkers locals whose members are employed at Granite City Steel Co. has been filed by the steel company because of the refusal of maintenance workers to accept overtime assignments during the Labor Day holiday, the Press-Record learned today.

At the same time, the company filed a grievance with the United Steelworkers Union asking that union officials desist in encouraging union members from accepting holiday or overtime work assignments which the company claims is permissible under the contract.

According to a union spokesman the company claim and grievance were filed after an earlier grievance was filed by the union on grounds that between 175 and 200 steelworkers members were reprimanded and deprived of holiday pay for not accepting Labor Day work assignments.

16-car pileup at Speedway

The newly crowned Tri-City Speedway track champion, Wes Spalding of Pontoon Beach, avoided a first-lap 16-car pile-up to speed to victory in the late model stock car division's 50-lap season championship auto race Friday evening.

Two-thirds of the 24 cars crashed in the fourth corner of the half-mile dirt track when the auto of Jacksonville's Joe Northrup began spinning and hit the guardrail. Only 15 cars were able make the restart.

Spalding charged into the lead, with Len Gittimer of St. Charles and Russell Wallace of Arnold, Mo., second and third. The three ran almost the entire race in those same positions until the 48th lap, when Clyde Lindemann, Cottleville, Mo., who had been running fourth moved up.

At the checked flag it was Spalding, first, Lindemann, second, Wallace third and Gittimer fourth.

Resigns state post

Springfield-Harry (Bud) Kelley of Springfield has resigned effective Oct. 1 as the 224,700 a year administrative assistant in the Department of Business and Economic Development.

He is being replaced by George Conour of Springfield, an analyst in the Bureau of the Budget. Conour will earn $19,000 in his new position.

Kelley joined the department seven years ago, in the Kerne administration, and in the Ogilvie administration he became Director Ray Dickerson's right-hand man. When Howard Fricke of Springfield was appointed director, he named a deputy director from outside the department and Kelley's responsibilities were lessened.

Because of some of the controversial advertising contracts given to Ogilvie's political advisor, Thomas Drennan, by the department, some Democrats were surprised that Kelley stayed on as long as he did.

Others see Kelley's departure as a career employee being forced out in some inner-office politics. At any rate, Kelley, who is now looking both in the private and public sector for a position, is just one of the centers of controversy in the department.

Clyde Wiseman, the former mayor of Alton, has been hired as a $14,724 a year community development representative in the Edwardsville office. At the same time, they lowered the responsibilities and salary of another employee in the office. Gov. Daniel Walker endorsed Wiseman in last spring's election, and after his defeat, Republicans in the legislature hoisted at the governor's political standing in the area.

A Walker campaign aide, Cynthia Darnes, has been put on contractual services of $1,000 for one month to work on some changes in the Division of Tourism. Fricke was not popular in all quarters when he switched two local tourism jobs to Chicago.

Another switch was made, but just physically, with no loss of jobs. Four employees in the Division of Water and Natural Resources have been physically moved from their BED office so they can work more closely with persons doing similar work in the Department of Conservation. Still others complain that they have been hired as $700 a month secretaries although she had held jobs under the Republicans.

Whatever their reasoning, morale of at least some employees is poor. When we called off employee for a comment, the reply was: "Please clear it through the front office. The way the ax is falling, I want to avoid controversy."

Amvet Post 51 enrolls 3

Amvet Post 51 is actively seeking new members, and enrolled three at a meeting last week at the Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Introduced by membership chairman Floyd Tucker and later accepted into the Quad-City unit were Harry H. Meyer, a sponsored member, and Joseph D. Green and Jerry W. Baggett, regular members. All three men are from Granite City.

Tucker said the campaign to recruit newcomers into the Amvet organization will continue through October, with emphasis being stressed on younger veterans to join the post.

Information concerning membership may be obtained from Clarence J. "Smokes" Preise, at 878-3868, or by calling the Post Home on weekends, at 931-9987.

Commander Adam Petras

was in charge of the business session and announced the Fifth Division meeting will take place Nov. 4 at Mount Vernon Post 4, starting at 2 p.m.

Members were urged to visit Walter Sanders, a patient at Maryville Nursing Home, and were reminded that volunteers still are needed to help in the public turkey shoot projects, scheduled at Post 51 Sunday from noon until dusk during the fall months.

Leo Clements won a prize in the social hour when refreshments were served by auxiliary members.

New K-Mart is 'massive' structure

BY GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

"Massive" is the word which best can be used to describe nearly every aspect of the new K-Mart, being constructed on Nameoki Road north of the Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

The building, enclosing 80,000 square feet, the parking area and other aspects of the project are big in every sense of the word.

The chore of paving the 135,000 square feet, of parking area began last week and will continue through this week as truckload after truckload of asphalt pass through in parade line, nearly lost in the middle of the giant cleared area.

Progress on the new commercial building was reviewed Friday by Henry Ross, head of Ross Construction Co., contractor for the building. The owner will be Malan Construction Co. when the keys are turned over Oct. 1.

K-Mart then will begin moving fixtures and display racks into the building and about Nov. 1, the flow of merchandise into the store will begin.

Ross and Bob Dugan, second vice-president of the Ross firm who is in charge of the building's construction, said during an inspection Friday the sales floor and offices will be completed this week and only work in the mechanical room and stock areas will remain.

The floor was a beehive of activity during Ross' review as workers from several construction trades completed the laying, wall paneling and installation of the ceiling.

Dugan explained the building here is different from most K-Marts and is the first in the St. Louis metropolitan area to use what he called new "prototype" materials.

The building uses pre-cast concrete columns and beams outside, an aggregate panel front over the canopy and fluted masonry on much of the outside, all firsts in this area.

Because of increased demand for K-Mart automotive products, the automotive department has been moved to the front of the store, trading its former rear-of-the-store location with the garden shop. There will be no grocery store in the new building.

"Massive" also is the word for the dramatic effort required to dispose of the tons of rain water which will fall on the building and parking area. A large storm sewer has been constructed to hold water during a storm which will empty into the city storm water sewers, but only after the sewer has emptied of the storm water from other areas.

Because of the construction standpoint, the job nearly is completed, but for the store personnel, the task of transporting 50,000 empty boxes into a full store is yet to begin—and that also will be a "massive" undertaking.

Enrollment up at McKendree
Although fall registrations are continuing, it is evident that McKendree College, Lebanon, Mo., has had a record year in enrollment, according to Raymond Devery, vice-president for development and college relations.

In contrast to a downward trend at most state as well as private colleges, McKendree's total enrollment is up 16 per cent and resident enrollment up 13 per cent with registrations continuing for two weeks, the enrollment apparently will up 50 or more over the 495 students last year, Devery said.

McKendree had a larger than usual graduating class last May, so the increased enrollment reflects an influx of 241 new students in a student body of 570. Of the new students, 141 are freshmen and 100 are upper classmen, many of them junior college transfers.

Devery cited two factors the national college directors the quality of the educational programs, and the addition of new career-oriented degree programs. The latter include law enforcement, medical and x-ray technology, a secretarial specialization in the business economics degree program, a registered nurse degree program and a degree program for the military.

FACES 7 CHARGES
Floyd Wallace, 28, of the 2100 block of Rock Road, was arrested at Nameoki Road and Victory Drive at 10:30 p.m. yesterday and was charged with seven traffic violations. Charges were attempting to elude police, a stop light violation, driving with his license suspended, reckless driving, improper display of license plates, failure to transfer license plates and failure to transfer the auto's title.

CARWASH INTERIOR. Much remains to be done for opening of the new facility late this month. Developers say the carwash, located between Grant and Tri-Mor Bowl, will contain the most modern automatic car washing equipment available. (Press-Record photo)

MASSIVE PARKING AREA for the new K-Mart store on Nameoki Road is being paved this week by Modern Asphalt Co. The parking lots at both K-Mart and the nearby carwash are expected to be paved by Friday. (Press-Record photo)

Price bill would speed Social Security boost

Cong. Melvin Price has sponsored a bill which would increase Social Security benefits by 5.8 per cent immediately instead of on July 1, 1974, as presently scheduled.

Price said the increase is necessary now in order to meet the soaring cost of living.

The congressman has cosponsored the Fuel Economy Act of 1973, which would impose a graduate excise tax on autos based on their fuel economy, beginning with the 1977 model year. The measure is aimed at increasing gasoline supplies.

On Saturday, Rep. Price was the honored guest at an open house conducted by St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City. The event, a "Meet Your Legislator Day," arranged by hospital officials, enabled patients and staff members to speak personally with their congressman.

On Thursday, Price met with John Barthes, administrator of the newly-formed Drug Enforcement Administration. The discussion centered on effective methods of curbing drug abuse and the drug traffic in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Price expressed special interest in the Administration's training programs and other safeguards against recurrence of mistakenly conducted drug raids in Collinsville last March.

On Wednesday, Congressman Price, as chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, addressed the Third International Congress of the International Radiation Protection Association.

After welcoming the delegates, he outlined activities of the U.S. government in radiation protection and the processes by which committees and agencies gain scientific data.

Price also discussed the Administration's proposed reorganization of government agencies which would, among other changes, transfer responsibility for licensing of nuclear facilities from the Atomic Energy Commission to an independent Nuclear Energy Commission.

In speaking of critics of nuclear energy, Cong. Price noted that "informed and responsible critics have made valuable contributions to the social, economic and political structures, and I am confident that thoughtful and objective citizens will continue to suggest worthwhile concepts and changes."

Price warned, however, against "criticism for the sake of criticism" and "an environment of sensationalism where innuendo and insinuation have been substituted for reason and rational judgment."

On Wednesday, Price spoke on the House floor in favor of the Health Maintenance Organization Act, which created a five-year, $240 million program to encourage development of health maintenance organizations, entities operated by insurance companies, medical groups, hospitals, consumer groups or others for the purpose of providing their members with a full range of medical services.

The congressman noted that "HMOs have provided better health care at lower cost than other health care systems. By concentrating on preventive medicine, they have decreased hospital costs, while at the same time improving the availability of medical care, especially to the working men and women who enroll in the programs."

Price announced last week that a $1½ million Army contract has been awarded to Lahr Brothers, Inc., of Columbia, The construction, to be performed in Madison County, involves replacement of gravity drainage structures on the Wood River levee and Drainage District Civil Works Project on the Mississippi River.

The objective is to foster comradeship between boys and their fathers in the manner of the American Indians. Details will be obtained from Kent D. Dunn at 876-7200.

Plant Safety program topic at Breakfast Kiwanis meet

There are four Illinois inspectors and they make checks periodically, or from a formal contract.

President Ray Grisham presided at the breakfast meeting held at Tempel's Smorgasbord, and announced a committee chairman and officers meeting will be held in his office at 6:30 p.m. today.

Reports were given by Jack Darlington on the "peanut sale" set Saturday with both Granite City Kiwanis Clubs participating in the event. Proceeds are to be used for area school children.

David Wilson spoke on the "Save Our Sight" program to take place early in October. A definite date will be announced later.

Wilson will be in charge of the program at next week's meeting at Charlie's Restaurant.

Rites for Mrs. Harrison

Funeral services were held Friday in Memphis, Tenn., for Mrs. Rose Harrison, 61, of 282 Harrison St., Eagle Park, Madison. She died Sept. 9 at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, of injuries received in an auto accident.

She was a member of the Canaan Galilee Baptist Church in Madison.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Georgia Mae Gibson of Madison; a son, E. C. Gibson, Memphis, Tenn.; a brother, Carver B. Morgan of Memphis; three sisters, Mrs. Estelle Mason of Madison, Mrs. Eloise Blade and Mrs. Velma Smith, both of Memphis.

Mrs. Hillon dies at 80

Mrs. Clara A. Hillon, 80, of 2827 East 25th St., a resident of Granite City for 50 years, died at 3:45 a.m. Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she had been a patient three weeks. She was born in Kansas City.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

PASSENGER INJURED
The autos of Jeannette Dejeu, 2804 Dale Ave. and Shirley Calderwood, 1933 St. Clair Ave., collided in the 1900 block of St. Clair Ave. at 6:30 p.m. Friday. Sandra Dejeu, 15, of 2004 Dale Ave., a passenger, suffered minor injuries in the accident.

Pontoon Ok's master traffic plan

A master traffic control ordinance for Pontoon Beach was adopted by the village board at its meeting Thursday night.

The ordinance prohibits parking within 15 feet of the Pontoon Road pavement, provides for the placement of 47 stop signs in the village and sets a five-ton load limit for all village streets. The load limit does not affect Pontoon Road which is a state highway.

The master traffic control ordinance duplicates several previous ordinances, but prevails those in conflict.

One of the major factors for the master ordinance, Village Board President Floyd David Moss explained, is to simplify the work of the village police who must not look through past ordinances to find the proper one before issuing a citation for a violation.

The board annexed a portion of 15 of Long Lake Shore just one lot north of Pontoon Road. Don Mettler who presently operates Don's Barber Shop in the village, plans to move the shop into a house now on the lot.

But for the purchase of a new police cars were authorized and the board decided to sell the 1969 and 1970 police cars they now have to the highest bidder after advertising for offers.

A petition from residents of the Kaseberg Park mobile home subdivision led Moss and several residents to visit the owner of the property after the meeting to see if roads there could be repaired.

They were informed plans are being prepared to repair the road. Residents said school bus service was to be terminated to the lot if the roads were not fixed.

Another petition from residents of the Buene Meadows Subdivision was read complaining of a health hazard from an open ditch.

The board voted to have the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab engineering firm examine the ditch to see if it should be filled.

Harry Page to run for state treasurer

Harry Page, 43, Springfield, announced his candidacy for the week in Freeport for the Republican nomination for state treasurer.

Speaking at the annual Stephenson County Republican Central Committee "rib roast," Page, claiming a broad-based statewide organizational and volunteer support, announced a five-point program of "citizen action" relating to the campaign and subsequent administration of the office:

1. Release of all campaign contributors' names and all campaign financial records available for review.

2. Monthly news release of personal expense account after assuming office.

3. Appointment of an administration review board on a bipartisan basis.

4. Black representation in the "cabinet" of the administration.

5. Appointment of a woman administrator in the top echelon of administration.

Y Indian guide meet Wednesday

The Tri-City Area YMCA will hold its annual YMCA Indian Guide organizational meeting Wednesday, Fathers of sons 5 and 6 years old, in kindergarten and 1st grade, will be in opening ceremonies by the Indian Guide Navajo tribe at 6:30 p.m.

Tribal leader Big Moon Ted Macies and others will speak on the theme of "Fals Forever" which is the program slogan.

Associate Executive Director, Tiny Crow Kent Dunn, is the YMCA staff person related to this 40-year-old father and son organization which was started in 1933 by a YMCA director and an Ojibway Indian, Jay Friday.

The objective is to foster comradeship between boys and their fathers in the manner of the American Indians. Details will be obtained from Kent D. Dunn at 876-7200.

Wiser to train as paratrooper

Plan drive for soup can labels

Students at St. Mary and St. Mark Schools will conduct a drive to collect labels from Campbell soup cans starting Oct. 15 to Dec. 3 in an effort to obtain needed audio-visual equipment for the schools, according to Sister Bernadette, principal.

The drive is known as "Labels for Education" and is sponsored by the soup manufacturer.

Anybody has labels for soup sauce, 50-ounce and chunky soup cans may deposit them at the schools or on Sunday in special boxes set up at both churches.

SONS OF LEGION TO HOST CHILI SUPPER

A chili supper at 7:30 p.m. Friday will be held at the Tri-City American Legion Post 113, at 1855 State St., sponsored by the Sons of the Legion. It was announced today by Jim Howell, advisor.
